Core Knowledge Language Arts is the only early reading program that reflects what expert educators, cognitive scientists, and the authors of the Common Core State Standards already know: background knowledge and foundational skills are the keys to early literacy.

CKLA's innovative instruction is grounded in research demonstrating that children cannot be literate without knowing about history, science, art, literature, and more. Blending print materials with digital resources, the program provides:

- Carefully sequenced background knowledge, building vocabulary and comprehension
- An unprecedentedly thorough approach to developing decoding and other critical foundational skills

This unique, in-depth combination prepares students for reading success in third grade and beyond.
