Social Studies

2017 Practice Test

Grade 3

Session 1

Directions:

Today, you will take Session 1 of the Grade 3 Social Studies Practice Test.

Read each source and question. Then, follow the directions to answer each question. Mark your answers by completely filling in the circles in your test booklet. Do not make any stray pencil marks outside of the circles. If you need to change an answer, be sure to erase your first answer completely. You may look back at the sources when needed.

Two of the questions will ask you to write a response. Write your response in the space provided in your test booklet. Only responses written within the provided space will be scored.

If you do not know the answer to a question, you may go on to the next question. If you finish early, you may review your answers and any questions you did not answer in this session ONLY. Do not go past the stop sign.

German Settlement in Louisiana

The swampy region west of New Orleans came to be known as the German Coast, because German settlers began to arrive there in the early 1700s. They established farms and married early French settlers. Food from those farms fed the people in the struggling settlement of New Orleans. In later decades, German settlers married Acadian settlers and helped to create Cajun culture. Historians believe that Germans introduced the accordion to Cajun music.

Seafood Paella

Seafood paella is a rice dish that was first made in Spain. It was a favorite of people from the Canary Islands, a Spanish community off the coast of Africa. From 1778 to 1783, Spain gave about two thousand Canary Islanders land and homes in Spanish-controlled land in Louisiana. The Canary Islanders kept many traditions and ways of life after moving to Louisiana, such as making seafood paella.

Adapted from a Newspaper Article about Acadians
Who Sailed to Louisiana (1786)

In the 1600s and 1700s, many French immigrants settled in Canada. When the French and Indian War broke out, Great Britain took control of the colonies in Canada. In 1755 the French colonists, known as Acadians, were forced to leave their homes. Some returned to Europe, and some settled in other places in the New World. This newspaper article explains what happened when a large group of Acadians came to Louisiana in the late 1700s.

Near the end of last year, several large French ships with about one thousand Acadian families arrived at New Orleans. The Spanish government gave the Acadians land in different parts of Louisiana. A number of Acadians are also expected to settle in Florida.

Giving the unlucky Acadians land seems like an act of kindness. The Spanish king would consider any such request. However, giving land to the Acadians also prevents Americans from settling on this fertile¹ land.

Haitians Flee to Louisiana (1791)

The French ruled western Hispaniola, now called Haiti, from 1625 until 1791. The drawing shows the burning of a city during the unrest that ended French rule. Thousands of Haitians, whose families came from France and Africa, fled to New Orleans. These immigrants helped to develop Louisiana's Creole culture.

1. Based on Source 1, how did German settlers meet their needs by changing the land in the areas they settled?

- Ⓐ They dug holes to look for gold.
- Ⓑ They cleared land to build farms.
- Ⓒ They built seaports to encourage trade.
- Ⓓ They grew potatoes to feed themselves.

2. Based on Source 1, how did German immigrants mainly change Louisiana?

Select the two correct answers.

- Ⓐ They helped feed the people of the settlement.
- Ⓑ They married each other and had many children.
- Ⓒ They made a lot of money by farming.
- Ⓓ They blended with other cultures to create a new culture.
- Ⓔ They established a new form of government.

3. Based on Source 2, why did Spain encourage Canary Islanders to immigrate to Louisiana?

- Ⓐ Canary Islanders were good sailors and wanted to travel.
- Ⓑ Canary Islanders did not like the weather in Florida.
- Ⓒ Spain did not want settlers to move back to Europe.
- Ⓓ Spain did not want American settlers to live in its colony.

4. Based on Source 2, how did many Canary Islanders adapt to living in Louisiana?
- Ⓐ They built boats to catch seafood.
 - Ⓑ They created their own kind of music.
 - Ⓒ They settled on farms to grow food.
 - Ⓓ They helped make room for other settlers.
5. Based on Source 3 and Source 4, why did both Acadian and Haitian immigrants come to Louisiana?
- Ⓐ to escape slavery in their home countries
 - Ⓑ to take fertile land from other settlers
 - Ⓒ to get away from political trouble at home
 - Ⓓ to practice their religions freely
6. Based on all of the sources, which statement best explains why different groups of immigrants settled in different parts of Louisiana?
- Ⓐ Immigrants settled in places that nobody else wanted to settle.
 - Ⓑ Immigrants settled in places that were rich in mineral resources.
 - Ⓒ Immigrants settled in places that offered the same food they ate in their old countries.
 - Ⓓ Immigrants settled in places that allowed them to use the skills they learned in their old countries.

Gumbo is an excellent example of cultural blending. This dish is closely identified with South Louisiana. It blends African, European, and Native American cultures. The word itself is from the Bantu word for okra, nkombo. The okra plant was brought to America by Portuguese traders. Some of the spices are from the Native Americans. The origin of gumbo is often credited to the French *bouillabaisse*¹, but the strong preference for soups in Africa strengthened the tradition.

Farmers' Market

A customer looks over different kinds of fresh vegetables at a farmers' market in Covington, Louisiana. Farmers' markets give growers a chance to sell directly to people. Usually, farmers sell their crops to grocery stores or restaurants. South Louisiana's mild climate means farmers have good weather for growing crops, even in winter. As a result, farmers' markets in Louisiana are becoming more popular.

From The Journals of Henri Joutel (1687)

by Henri Joutel

In this quotation, French explorer Henri Joutel describes Caddo homes.

There are normally eight or ten families in these huts, which are very large; some are 60 feet in diameter¹. . . . These are round, in the shape of beehives, or rather like large haystacks. . . . They are covered with grass from the ground to the top. They make a fire in the center, the smoke going out the top through the grass.

Adapted from Historical Journal (1699)

This text describes a meeting between Pierre Le Moyne d'Iberville and the Natchez tribe. It was most likely written by someone traveling with d'Iberville.

When we arrived near the Natchez village, the ambassador¹ sang several songs of peace, accompanied by loud yells. The Indians gathered on the bank of the river, where they had cut the cane away to receive us. The chief was surrounded by about sixty persons. D'Iberville was greeted by them in the usual manner. They began by raising their arms towards the sun, as in respect, then passed their hands over his chest, which is a curious form of affection² among them. They then brought us Indian corn. D'Iberville then handed out beads, needles, looking-glasses, knives, and other gifts.

¹ambassador: a person who represents a group

²affection: love or caring

The Natchez

This drawing shows a Plaquemine village at the Holly Bluff site in Mississippi. The Plaquemine were ancestors¹ of the Natchez. Like the Plaquemine, the Natchez built mounds in their villages. The mounds were topped with sacred² buildings where they held religious services. The Natchez lived on family farms near the mounds. They grew corn, beans, and squash. They hunted, fished, and gathered wild plants for food.

²sacred: important in a religious way

- 13. Based on Source 2, which statement best describes the relationship between d'Iberville and the Native Americans he met with?
- Ⓐ They were suspicious of each other.
 - Ⓑ They were angry with each other.
 - Ⓒ They respected each other.
 - Ⓓ They admired each other.
- 14. Based on Source 2, why did the Natchez most likely raise their hands to the sun?
- Ⓐ They believed the sun sent them important messages.
 - Ⓑ They believed the sun should be feared because of its great heat.
 - Ⓒ They believed the sun had to be honored or it would disappear.
 - Ⓓ They believed the sun was an important part of the natural world.
- 15. Which statement best explains why the Caddo and the Natchez built villages as shown in Source 1, Source 3, and Source 4?
- Ⓐ They needed mountains so they could build temples.
 - Ⓑ They needed iron and other minerals to make weapons.
 - Ⓒ They depended on trade with European settlers to get enough food.
 - Ⓓ They depended on a large group of fellow tribe members for survival.

16. Based on Source 3 and Source 4, which statement best describes the physical features of the places where the Caddo settled and the places where the Natchez settled?
- Ⓐ They settled near mountains with plenty of stones for building.
 - Ⓑ They settled in flat areas with water and good soil for crops.
 - Ⓒ They settled in forests with wildlife and plants they could eat.
 - Ⓓ They settled near oceans with seafood that could be traded.

17. Describe two ways that the environment influenced the Natchez and Caddo cultures.

National Days of Service

This text is from Volunteer Louisiana. The group talks about what National Days of Service are, and how important volunteers are to the community.

There is a National Day of Service in almost every month. These are special days to get people to volunteer in their communities. In Louisiana, we focus on five days where we spearhead¹ efforts to help our citizens get involved:

- January: Martin Luther King, Jr. Day
- April: National Volunteer Week
- April: Global Youth Service Day
- September: 9/11 Day of Remembrance and Service
- October: Make a Difference Day

Days of Service organizers usually have large events that make it easy to volunteer for an hour, a half-day, or a full day. The simple act of individuals coming together for a common goal makes a huge difference in the lives of our most vulnerable² citizens. It also helps with our most critical social priorities³ such as education, healthy futures, affordable housing, economic opportunity⁴ and disaster recovery⁵. Join us by volunteering in a project near you.

²vulnerable: easily harmed or hurt

³critical social priorities: important issues

⁴economic opportunity: a chance to make money

⁵disaster recovery: helping people after an emergency or an accident

- 18. Based on Source 1 and Source 2, which is a responsibility of volunteers?
- Ⓐ to join a club in a community
 - Ⓑ to learn about designing houses
 - Ⓒ to travel to another place
 - Ⓓ to work well with other people
- 19. Based on Source 1, how did Nicholas Guillery make Louisiana a better place to live?
- Ⓐ by getting to know new friends
 - Ⓑ by staying for an entire week
 - Ⓒ by helping people fix their homes
 - Ⓓ by agreeing with his teammates
- 20. Based on Source 2, which is a way a citizen can help solve a local issue?
- Ⓐ practice to improve special skills
 - Ⓑ give time to a social organization
 - Ⓒ work hard at a job or a career
 - Ⓓ get to know people in nearby areas

- 21. Source 3 describes some important social issues. Which issue is Cheryl Bryant most likely helping by volunteering as shown in Source 2?
- Ⓐ working with young children
 - Ⓑ assisting people during storms
 - Ⓒ teaching about being healthy
 - Ⓓ inviting others to help people

22. Describe two ways that volunteering can show good citizenship.

Career Profile: Firefighters

2015 Average Salary: $25,440–$34,240 per year in Louisiana

Education: Firefighters need a high school diploma and training in emergency medical services. Most firefighters are trained at a fire academy. They must pass written and physical tests.

Expected Job Demand: Better than average.

Job Description: Firefighters control and put out fires. They also help out whenever life, property, or the environment is at risk.

Interview with Teri Gilland,
Captain, Ward Six Fire Protection District 1, Louisiana

Q: How did you decide you wanted to be a firefighter?

A: At the age of 18, my twin brother joined the local fire department. My husband was also a member of the fire department. After riding to a few fires with him, I saw that the department could use more volunteers. So I decided to join the department in 1992. I was unaware that this volunteer job would become my career.

Q: What would you tell people who want to be firefighters?

A: Never let anyone tell you that you cannot be a firefighter, or that the job is too tough for a girl to do. It is the most rewarding¹ career that I could have ever dreamed of having. It is hard at times, and it takes a lot of physical effort and training, but it is worth it.
