Instructional materials are one of the most important tools that educators use in the classroom to enhance student learning. It is critical that they fully align to state academic standards—what students are expected to learn and be able to do at the end of each grade level or course—and are high quality if they are to provide meaningful instructional support. Those closest to students are best positioned to decide which instructional materials are appropriate for their district and classrooms. The state can assist by providing guidance and information to support local districts and teachers in making those decisions.

To ensure that teachers and students have high-quality instructional materials:

- the Louisiana Legislature, through La RS 17:351.1, provides regulations relative to the review and adoption of textbooks and other instructional materials;
- the State Board of Elementary and Secondary Education, through Bulletin 741 §1703, has updated regulations regarding the same; and
- the Louisiana Department of Education (LDOE) has established a review process to assist local education agencies in identifying textbooks and other instructional materials that align to Louisiana state academic standards.

Local school systems have three options when adopting textbooks and other instructional materials:

1. select materials evaluated through the LDOE’s review process, which involves educators and parents;
2. engage in a local review process of materials not reviewed by LDOE; or
3. adopt a combination of state-reviewed materials and materials reviewed locally.¹

Local school systems can use the information in this document to establish and/or update their local policies and regulations, establish a timeline for adoption, and adopt and purchase textbooks and other instructional materials to support the needs of all students in meeting state academic standards.

OPTION 1: SELECT STATE-REVIEWED MATERIALS

The Department conducts the review of instructional materials. This process supports local school systems and educators in making informed decisions regarding which materials to adopt and purchase locally. The state does not recommend or adopt textbooks or instructional materials.

All reviewed materials are made available on the Instructional Materials Review webpage. Local school systems can use the results of the reviews to determine which materials are best suited for their local needs.

¹ To the maximum extent practical, electronic instructional resources (e.g., textbooks, media, or other instructional content and materials) should be purchased and utilized La. R.S. 17:351.1 (C)(2).
How are materials reviewed?

Materials are evaluated by teams of Louisiana Teacher Leader Advisors. These teams review for alignment to the state academic standards using the appropriate evaluation rubric. Reviews are tiered based on their quality or alignment to state academic standards:

- Tier 1 materials exemplify quality and meet all criteria on the rubric.
- Tier 2 materials are approaching quality. They meet the non-negotiable criteria on the rubric.
- Tier 3 materials do not represent quality. They do not meet the non-negotiable criteria on the rubric.

What is reviewed and when?

The Department invites publishers to submit materials annually and posts its announcement on the Instructional Materials Review webpage. The Department also publishes a weekly report showing the status of state reviews that are in progress. Local school systems can use this information to make decisions regarding local adoption timelines and what materials to review locally.

As part of the process, instructional material reviews are sent to the publisher for their comments. These comments are included as an appendix within the final published state review. In addition, materials are made available for public comment during the review process. Materials currently under review are readily available for public review and comment both online and in person. These comments are also included within the final published review.

How are materials purchased?

Materials rated Tier 1 (or Tier 2 during the first two years of the review cycle) may be purchased under the authority of a state contract through either the central depository or the publisher directly. The Department publishes contract numbers and pricing in the Curricular Resources Library for materials that are under an approved state contract. Materials rated Tier 3 are not available under a state contract but may be purchased with Minimum Foundation Program (MFP) state and local funding depending upon local policy and procedures established for procurement. Purchasing decisions are authorized locally and based on the needs within the district. There are no requirements to use any of the textbooks and instructional materials that have been state reviewed.

2 Each year reviewers are selected through an application process. Any current Louisiana public school educator can apply to be a reviewer as a Teacher Leader Advisor. Access the application information through the Teacher Leader page.

3 La. R.S. 17:351.1 (D)(2)

4 While there are no restrictions on the use of state and local MFP funds to purchase or acquire textbooks or other instructional materials, restrictions may exist in the use of other federal, state or local funds. Local school systems should verify eligible uses of funds used to support such materials.

5 La. R.S. 17:351.1 (A)(3) and Bulletin 741, §1703
OPTION 2: ENGAGE IN A LOCAL REVIEW PROCESS

Local school systems are not required to purchase state-reviewed materials listed on LDOE’s Instructional Materials Review webpage. However, to purchase instructional materials that have not been reviewed by the LDOE, a local review process must be conducted.

What are the requirements for a local review process?

Local school systems must follow local requirements when engaging in reviews of instructional materials. They must establish a local review committee, develop evaluation criteria, and provide opportunities for parental and public input prior to the final adoption of instructional materials.

Guidance for Instructional Materials Reviews

- Conduct local pre-ordering for deliveries to begin July 1 of the fiscal year

- Deliver textbooks and other instructional materials (all formats)

| July-August |

How are materials purchased?

Locally reviewed instructional materials require publisher agreements\(^\text{11}\) that

- are awarded on a competitive basis;
- provide that the publisher, distributor, wholesaler, or retailer shall not charge a purchase price, rental fee, or other fees for the purchase, lease, or use of an instructional material that exceeds the lowest price or fee charged to a school governing authority in any other state for the same instructional material;
- provide that, upon request, a publisher or other content provider shall allow the purchase of textbooks and other instructional materials through the central depository; and
- require compliance with the National Instructional Materials Accessibility Standard, as consistent with the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act of 2004 (20 U.S.C. 1474(e)) for the conversion of print instructional materials from which Braille and large print textbooks can be produced for eligible students. Sample language to include in local contracts is provided below:

Local Textbook and Instructional Materials Agreements: Sample Language

1. OBLIGATION. Publisher shall automatically reduce the net cost of textbooks when the net cost of the publisher for books covered by the contract are reduced to any school or school system in the United States so that no edition of that textbook shall at any time be sold in this state at a higher net cost than that received for that book from any school or school system in the United States.

2. DEPOSITORY. The publisher agrees to utilize the book depository designated by the State Superintendent of Education where all textbooks and instructional materials can be ordered and distributed from a central location.

3. ACCESS TO INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS. By agreeing to deliver the materials marked with "NIMAS" on this contract or purchase order, the publisher agrees to submit a valid NIMAS file set to the NIMAC at the American Printing House for the Blind, Inc. (APH). Should the vendor be a distributor of the materials and not the publisher, the distributor agrees to immediately notify the publisher of its obligation to submit NIMAS file sets of the purchased products to the NIMAC. This is page ___ of ___ of this contract or purchase order.

What are additional considerations for local adoption policy?

- Local school systems may establish the price and sell any textbook or library book no longer in use to any person or entity for private use.\(^{12}\)

- While most home study programs provide their own curriculum and resources that are comparable to that provided in public schools, when requested and available, the following applies when loaning textbooks for use in a SBESE state-approved home study program.\(^{13}\) Local policy must include the following conditions. Parents or guardians must

  - present a copy of the student’s approved Home Study application;
  - select textbooks from the listing available from the local education agency;
  - provide a deposit equal to 100 percent of the replacement cost, which must be returned upon course completion; and
  - return books or payment for any books not returned to continue participation.
