Instructional Materials Evaluation - Student Standards Review

Louisiana educators engaged in a professional review of the state's academic standards for English language arts (ELA) and mathematics to ensure they continue to maintain strong expectations for teaching and learning aligned with college and workplace demands. The new ELA and math standards will be effective beginning with the 2016-2017 school year. As part of the Louisiana Department of Education's support for a seamless transition to these new standards, the LDOE identified the major changes of the standards and their potential impact upon criteria used to review instructional materials.

Overall Rating: Tier III, Not representing quality

This English Language Arts review has been examined for the following changes in alignment resulting from the Louisiana Student Standards Review:

- Materials do not contain references to specific authors and texts
- Include citing relevant textual evidence beginning in grade 6
- Include an awareness of audience when making speeches and delivering presentations

This review remains a Tier 3 rating. As a result of these changes, the following chart identifies the potential impact on specific elements in the current review. The LDOE recommends that district curriculum staff, principals, and teachers take these findings into consideration when using these instructional materials.

Criteria	Currently in the Rubric	Next Steps for Educators
Quality of Texts (Non-Negotiable)	This program currently is reviewed as "No" for this criteria because texts are varied, but not selected to build knowledge systematically. There are no anchor texts provided in grades 4-6, and the texts that are provided do not provide students with content rich information.	Since these materials received a "No" for this indicator, the current weakness will likely remain and should be addressed by adjusting or supplementing with stronger programs.
Text-Dependent Questions (Non-Negotiable)	This program currently is reviewed as "No" for this criteria because questions lack depth and complexity. Most of the questions do not require students to refer back to the text.	Since these materials received a "No" for this indicator, the current weakness will likely remain and should be addressed by adjusting or supplementing with stronger programs.
Speaking and Listening	This program currently is reviewed as "No" for this criteria in grades K-3 because the texts that the oral tasks are dependent on do not meet the criteria for quality and range.
	This program was not evaluated in grades 4-6.

The goal for ELA students is that they can read and understand grade-level texts independently, as demonstrated through writing and speaking about those texts. A strong ELA classroom is structured with the below components.

II. Text Selection
Tier 1 and 2 Non-Negotiable  2. COMPLEXITY OF TEXTS: Materials present a progression of texts as stated by Reading Standard 10 <sup>1</sup> and Reading Foundational Standard 4.  (Note: In K and 1, Reading Standard 10 refers to read-aloud material, which is	REQUIRED 2a) Beginning in grade 2, materials provide texts that fall within grade-level complexity bands, indicating that quantitative measures and qualitative analysis <sup>2</sup> were used in selection of texts. Poetry and drama are analyzed only using qualitative measures. In all grades, extensive read-aloud texts allow sufficient opportunity for engagement with text more complex than students could read themselves.	Yes	The materials for this grade did not include a Text Based Comprehension page which provides text complexity measures used to select texts since the Teacher Edition was inaccessible. In the 6 units, there are 6 big books in the weekly lessons in each unit for read-aloud/shared reading opportunities. Read-alouds allow students to engage with text.
typically from grades 2+. Reading Foundational Standard 4 applies to student-read texts. Complexity standards for student-read texts are	REQUIRED  2b) Texts for each grade align with the requirements outlined in the standards and with the complexity of exemplars provided in Appendix B.	Yes	Texts align with requirement of standards. Read- aloud texts appear to be aligned with requirements of range and quality of texts.
applicable for grades 2+.)  Yes No	REQUIRED  2c) Texts increase in complexity as materials progress across grade bands. Read-aloud texts follow the same trend, although they may have greater variability because listening skills in elementary school generally outpace reading skills.	Yes	There is greater variability noted due to readalouds and listening skills.
Tier 1 and 2 Non-Negotiable 3. QUALITY OF TEXTS: Texts are of sufficient scope and quality to provide text-centered and integrated learning that is sequenced and scaffolded to advance students toward independent reading of grade-level texts	REQUIRED  3a) Nearly all texts are worth reading in the particular grade (i.e., serve an instructional purpose); they are content rich and well crafted, representing the quality of writing that is produced by authorities in the discipline and include texts from history/social studies, science, technical subjects, and the arts.	Yes	Texts are appropriate for grade level and different curriculum areas are represented.

and build content knowledge (ELA, social studies, science and technical subjects, and the arts). The quality of texts is high—they support multiple readings for various purposes and exhibit exceptional craft and thought and/or provide useful information.  (Note: In K and 1 this refers generally to read-aloud material and some student-	REQUIRED 3b) Materials provide a sequence or collection of texts that build knowledge systematically through reading, writing, listening and speaking about topics or ideas under study. The inclusion of read-aloud texts in addition to what students can read themselves ensures that all students can build knowledge about the world through engagement with text.	No	In the weekly lessons there are 6 big books and 6 decodable books along with leveled reader books. Big Books allow students to make connections to real-life experiences. Although built around a general "concept" the selections do not systematically build knowledge. The Units are organized by a general focus (i.e. Going Places), and the weekly readings relate to that focus tangentially, but do not build on one another to build knowledge from week to week (i.e. Jets, Swings, Fox Can Fix It, The Little Engine that Could, Queen of the Forest).
read texts after midyear in grade 1. Complexity standards for student-read texts are applicable for grades 2+.)	REQUIRED  3c) Within a sequence or collection of texts, specific complex anchor texts are selected for multiple, careful readings.	Yes	Books in series do provide for multiple and careful readings as books in lessons/unit through use of leveled readers and e-readers.
Yes No	3d) Nearly all texts are previously published rather than "commissioned."	Yes	Texts are selections which have been previously published.
4. RANGE AND VOLUME OF TEXTS:  Materials reflect the distribution of text types and genres suggested by the standards: Text types and genres generally reflect the definitions provided on page 31 of the standards and	REQUIRED 4a) In grades K-12, ELA materials seek a balance in instructional time between 50% literature/ 50% informational texts.	Yes	In the 6 units and 6 weeks of lessons in each unit, there appears to be an adequate balance between literature/informational texts. Books range in the areas of animal fantasy, fairy tale, fable, realistic and historical fiction and nonfiction.
included in the text of the standards (e.g., RL.K.9 , RI.1.9 , or RI.2.3 ).	REQUIRED 4c) Materials include texts of different formats (e.g., print and non-print, including film, art, music, charts, etc.) and lengths.	Yes	Printed text and its related illustrations are the main formats presented in the materials. Non-print text such as film, art, music and charts are not included.
Yes No	4b) Materials include many informational texts with an informational text structure rather than a narrative structure.	Yes	Informational texts follow instructional and not narrative structure.
	4d) Materials increase the opportunity for regular, accountable independent reading of texts that appeal to students' interests to build reading stamina, confidence, motivation, and enjoyment and connect to classroom concepts or topics to develop knowledge.	Yes	Materials provide regular readings and are texts which appeal to students' interests and although they are not repeated throughout the program, students will use them to connect knowledge making them meaningful and purposeful.

III. Questions and Tasks
Tier 1 and 2 Non-Negotiable 5. TEXT-DEPENDENT QUESTIONS: Text- dependent questions reflect the requirements of Reading	REQUIRED 5a) At least 80% of all questions in the materials are text-dependent questions; student ideas are expressed through both written and spoken responses.	Yes	Majority of questions are text dependent. Each unit starts with an essential question based on the 6 books in the weekly lessons. Student ideas are expressed through both spoken and written responses.
Standard 1 by requiring the use of textual details in support of meeting other grade-specific standards.	REQUIRED 5b) Coherent sequences of text-dependent questions elicit sustained attention to the text and its illustrations, its impact (including the building of knowledge), and its connection to other texts.	Yes	Each weekly lesson starts off with an essential question and at the end of the story there 2 questions at different levels of questioning which build on and connect to other texts.
( Note: In K and 1 this refers to read-aloud material, which is typically from grades 2+.)	REQUIRED 5c) Questions include the language of the standards, and assess the depth and complexity required by the standards at each grade over time to advance and deepen student learning. ( Note: Not every standard must be assessed with every text.)	No	Questions do not include the language of the standards and are limited to either the application or (sometimes) analyzing level.
Yes No	5d) Questions often begin with comprehension of the text before focusing on interpretation or evaluation.	No	Questions often begin with evaluation or analysis of text and prior experiences rather than comprehension.
	5e) Questions support students in unpacking the academic language (vocabulary and syntax) prevalent in complex texts to determine meaning from text and in learning new vocabulary from every reading opportunity.	No	Questions are more at application level rather than supporting students in being able to use language to determine meaning from text. There is a Let's Learn It! Vocabulary section following the Big Book story but words are only related to overall theme of the story and not present in the story itself.
6. ASSESSMENT: Materials offer assessment opportunities that genuinely measure progress and elicit	REQUIRED 6a) Measurement of progress via assessments should include gradual release of supporting scaffolds for students to measure their independent abilities.	Yes	Measurement of student progress provides scaffolding for students to work independently on skills/objectives necessary to attain.
direct, observable evidence of the degree to which students can independently demonstrate the assessed grade-specific standards	REQUIRED 6b) Aligned rubrics or assessment guidelines (such as scoring guides or student work exemplars) are included and provide sufficient guidance for interpreting student performance.	Yes	Rubrics were not noted, however, there were opportunities for teachers to provide corrective feedback and monitor student progress through use of assessment handbook, baseline group test, and online assessment.

Tes INO	6d) Materials assess student proficiency using methods that are unbiased and accessible to all students.	Yes	Materials accessible to all students.
	6e) When assessments indicate students do not understand what they hear or read, materials should provide suggestions for reteaching and additional student learning opportunities. These materials must be easily implemented.	Yes	Materials provide easily to implement remediation and intervention especially or those without a clear understanding of skill/objective.

IV. Scaffolding and Support
7. SCAFFOLDING AND SUPPORT:  Materials provide all students, including those who read below grade level, with extensive opportunities and support to encounter and comprehend grade-level complex text (either listened to or read) as required by the standards at each grade.  Yes  No	<ul> <li>7a) Pre-reading activities and suggested approaches to teacher scaffolding are focused and engage students with understanding the text itself. Pre-reading activities should be no more than 10% of time devoted to any reading instruction.</li> <li>REQUIRED</li> <li>7b) Read aloud materials must have the goal of students gaining full comprehension of complex text and do not confuse or substitute mastery of strategies for full comprehension of text; reading strategies support comprehension of specific texts and focus on building knowledge and insight. Texts must not serve as platforms to practice discrete strategies.</li> </ul>	Yes	Pre-reading activities are engaging and provide a focus for students to relate to text/stories read aloud.  Read-aloud Materials allow students to comprehend text/stories and use strategies to enhance understanding of texts/stories.  Opportunity for favorite traditional read aloud, literacy based centers, and immersion in text, where teachers can facilitate student choice from existing leveled libraries based on interest, availability, and readability. The purpose of this time is to build independent, interested, and capable readers.
	REQUIRED 7c) Materials regularly direct teachers to return to focused parts of the text to guide students through rereading, discussion and writing about the ideas, events, and information found there.	No	Materials do not direct teachers to return to parts of the text in guiding students with reading, discussion, etc The only redirection comes in the form of corrective feedback if the student is having trouble with decoding, fluency, etc.

7d) Appropriate suggestions and materials are provided for supporting varying student needs at the unit and lesson level (e.g., alternate teaching approaches, pacing, instructional delivery options, suggestions for addressing common student difficulties to meet standards, remediation strategies or suggestions for supporting texts, suggestions for more advanced texts for extension, etc.).	Yes	Activities are included to allow time to review, reinforce, assess, and remediate content knowledge.
7f) The materials are easy to use and cleanly laid out for students and teachers. The reading selections are centrally located within the materials and obviously the center of focus.		Materials appear to be user-friendly and are at the center of the focus.
7e) The content can be reasonably completed within a regular school year and the pacing of content allows for maximum student understanding. The materials provide guidance about the amount of time a task might reasonably take.	Yes	Content can be completed in a reasonable amount of time and paced to maximize student understanding.

V. Writing to Sources and Research	V. Writing to Sources and Research
8. WRITING TO SOURCES: The majority of written tasks are text-dependent (based on what has been read or heard) and reflect the writing genres named in the standards.	REQUIRED 8a) Students engage in a full range of writing as outlined by the standards at each grade level and materials include multiple writing tasks. This includes writing about what they are hearing or reading, writing narratives (both real and imagined), writing to inform or explain, and writing opinions.	Yes	Multiple writing tasks noted as appropriate with this grade level.
Writing assignments are prominent and varied and ask students to draw on their experience, imagination, current capacities, and most frequently, the texts they encounter through reading	REQUIRED 8b) Writing opportunities for students are prominent and varied in length and time demands (e.g., notes, summaries, shortanswer responses, whole-class shared writing, on-demand and process writing, etc.).	Yes	Writing opportunities prominent and varied throughout the units noted.
or read-alouds as source material. As a means to such expression, materials provide sufficient opportunities for all students to practice newly acquired foundational skills as well as other forms of self-expression.	REQUIRED 8c) Materials build in opportunities for connections between writing, speaking and listening, reading, and the language standards. For example, students listen to a text being read, work collaboratively to develop a plan for writing, write independently filling out an answer frame, and then share their writing with a peer who reviews the writing against a word wall to ensure high frequency words are spelled correctly.	Yes	In each unit, there were opportunities for students to connect text/stories read aloud and writing and sharing opportunities.
Yes No	REQUIRED 8d) Submissions address grade-level foundation standards that require students in the early grades to know their letters, phonetic conventions, sentence structures, and spelling.	Yes	Materials require the students to have an understanding of foundational standards.
	8e) Materials provide opportunities for educators to monitor student progress in the development of these foundational skills and respond to the needs of individual students. This monitoring should include attention to invented spelling as appropriate for its diagnostic value.	Yes	Opportunities for educators to monitor student progress in developing foundational skills in writing noted.
	8f) Materials engage students in shared research projects to develop the skills needed to conduct research independently in later grades.	Yes	Opportunities for students to work collaboratively in shared projects noted.

VI. Speaking and Listening
9. SPEAKING AND LISTENING: Materials should promote frequent and regular discussions about texts students have heard or read. Oral tasks	REQUIRED 9a) Texts used in speaking and listening questions and tasks must meet the criteria for complexity, range, and quality of texts (Criteria 2, 3, and 4).	No	Texts allow for frequent and regular discussions of texts and stories, but do not meet the criteria for Quality and Range. Speaking and listening tasks progress across the grade level.
must be text-dependent and materials for speaking and listening must reflect true communication skills required for appropriate interactions and	REQUIRED 9b) As a regular part of comprehension instruction materials build in frequent opportunities for a range of conversations and collaborations with peers about texts listened to or read. conversations with a variety of audiences in and out of the classroom.  Yes  No	REQUIRED 9c) Materials build in frequent opportunities for connections and alignment between speaking and listening, reading, writing, and the language standards. For example, through directions and modeling, materials encourage students to use academic language and grade-appropriate oral language conventions.	Yes	The read-alouds and associated instructional materials within the units have been designed to provide repeated listening experiences with selected vocabulary words.
	9d) Materials develop active listening skills, such as taking notes, asking relevant questions, and elaborating on remarks of others.		Opportunities for students to work collaboratively and share ideas with on another noted.

	REQUIRED  10c) Materials create opportunities for students to discover accurate usage patterns, compare them with their own (oral and written), and develop proficiency in usage and language conventions that build from one grade to the next.	Yes	Materials allow opportunities for students to become more proficient through practice and usage.
	REQUIRED 10d) Materials encourage students to examine the language of texts (vocabulary, sentences, structure) and model their own writing after texts they are listening to or reading as a way to develop more complex sentence structure and language usage.	Yes	Materials encourage students to use language from texts to build on and develop complex sentence structure in their writing and everyday language usage.
	REQUIRED 10e) Materials build in frequent opportunities for connections and alignment between the language standards, writing, reading, and speaking and listening. For example, through directions and modeling, materials encourage students to use grade-appropriate language conventions when speaking and writing about texts.	Yes	Materials have built in and frequent opportunities for students to use developmentally appropriate conventions when speaking and writing about texts/stories.
	10b) Materials provide real-world activities for student practice with natural language (e.g. mock interviews, presentations).	Yes	Real-world activities provided and noted for students to practice and use natural and appropriate language.

No	Word study opportunities very minimal. Although there was decoding of words, there was very little if none syllabication practice noted.
	REQUIRED  1f) Materials guide students to read with purpose and understanding and to make frequent connections between acquisition of foundation skills and making meaning from reading.	Yes	Materials allow students to gain purpose and understanding by making connections through the use of stories and passages.

II. Text Selection
Tier 1 and 2 Non-Negotiable  2. COMPLEXITY OF TEXTS: Materials present a progression of texts as stated by Reading Standard 10 <sup>1</sup> and Reading Foundational Standard 4.  (Note: In K and 1, Reading Standard 10 refers to read-aloud material, which is	REQUIRED 2a) Beginning in grade 2, materials provide texts that fall within grade-level complexity bands, indicating that quantitative measures and qualitative analysis <sup>2</sup> were used in selection of texts. Poetry and drama are analyzed only using qualitative measures. In all grades, extensive read-aloud texts allow sufficient opportunity for engagement with text more complex than students could read themselves.	Yes	Texts appear to fall within criteria used to determine complexity of texts. Materials appear to be adequate in providing students opportunities to engage with text. The materials for this grade did not include a Text Based Comprehension page which provides text complexity measures used to select texts since the Teacher Edition was inaccessible.
typically from grades 2+. Reading Foundational Standard 4 applies to student-read texts. Complexity standards for student-read texts are	REQUIRED  2b) Texts for each grade align with the requirements outlined in the standards and with the complexity of exemplars provided in Appendix B.	Yes	Texts align with requirement of standards. Read- aloud texts appear to be aligned with requirements of range and quality of texts.
applicable for grades 2+.)  Yes No	REQUIRED  2c) Texts increase in complexity as materials progress across grade bands. Read-aloud texts follow the same trend, although they may have greater variability because listening skills in elementary school generally outpace reading skills.	Yes	Texts appear to become more complex as students progress through program.
Re built Tier 1 and 2 Non-Negotiable 3. QUALITY OF TEXTS: Texts are of sufficient scope and quality to provide text-centered and integrated learning that is sequenced and scaffolded to advance students toward independent reading of grade-level texts	REQUIRED  3a) Nearly all texts are worth reading in the particular grade (i.e., serve an instructional purpose); they are content rich and well crafted, representing the quality of writing that is produced by authorities in the discipline and include texts from history/social studies, science, technical subjects, and the arts.	Yes	Texts are appropriate for grade level and different curriculum areas are represented.

The inclusion of read-aloud texts in addition to what students can read themselves ensures that all students can build knowledge about the world through engagement with text.	No	In the weekly lessons there are stories and passages as well as leveled readers. Although a variety of texts allows students to make connections to real-life experiences, the selections are do not systematically build knowledge. The Units are organized by a general focus (i.e. Changes), and the weekly readings relate to that focus tangentially, but do not build on one another to build knowledge from week to week (i.e. A Place to Play and My Neighborhood to The Ugly Duckling to the Class Pet, then Frog and Toad.).
read texts after midyear in grade 1. Complexity standards for student-read texts are applicable for grades 2+.)	REQUIRED  3c) Within a sequence or collection of texts, specific complex anchor texts are selected for multiple, careful readings.	Yes	Books in series do provide for multiple and careful readings as books in lessons/unit through use of leveled readers and e-readers.
Yes No	3d) Nearly all texts are previously published rather than "commissioned."	Yes	Texts are selections which have been previously published.
4. RANGE AND VOLUME OF TEXTS:  Materials reflect the distribution of text types and genres suggested by the standards: Text types and genres generally reflect the definitions provided on page 31 of the standards and	REQUIRED 4a) In grades K-12, ELA materials seek a balance in instructional time between 50% literature/ 50% informational texts.	Yes	In the 5 units and 6 weeks of lessons in each unit, there appears to be an adequate balance between literature/informational texts. Books range in the areas of realistic fiction, poetry, procedural text, realistic fiction, fables, how to do's, etc.
included in the text of the standards (e.g., RL.K.9 , RI.1.9 , or RI.2.3 ).	REQUIRED 4c) Materials include texts of different formats (e.g., print and non-print, including film, art, music, charts, etc.) and lengths.	No	Printed text and its related illustrations are the main formats presented in the materials. Non-print text such as film, art, music and charts are not included.
Yes No	4b) Materials include many informational texts with an informational text structure rather than a narrative structure.	Yes	Informational texts follow instructional and not narrative structure.
	4d) Materials increase the opportunity for regular, accountable independent reading of texts that appeal to students' interests to build reading stamina, confidence, motivation, and enjoyment and connect to classroom concepts or topics to develop knowledge.	Yes	Materials provide regular readings and are texts which appeal to students' interests and although they are not repeated throughout the program, students will use them to connect knowledge making them meaningful and purposeful.

III. Questions and Tasks
Tier 1 and 2 Non-Negotiable 5. TEXT-DEPENDENT QUESTIONS: Text- dependent questions reflect the requirements of Reading	REQUIRED 5a) At least 80% of all questions in the materials are text-dependent questions; student ideas are expressed through both written and spoken responses.	Yes	Majority of questions are text dependent. Each unit starts with an essential question based on the 6 books in the weekly lessons. Student ideas are expressed through both spoken and written responses.
Standard 1 by requiring the use of textual details in support of meeting other grade-specific standards.	REQUIRED 5b) Coherent sequences of text-dependent questions elicit sustained attention to the text and its illustrations, its impact (including the building of knowledge), and its connection to other texts.	Yes	Each weekly lesson starts off with an essential question and at the end of the story there questions at different levels of questioning which build on and connect to other texts.
( Note: In K and 1 this refers to read-aloud material, which is typically from grades 2+.)	REQUIRED 5c) Questions include the language of the standards, and assess the depth and complexity required by the standards at each grade over time to advance and deepen student learning. ( Note: Not every standard must be assessed with every text.)	No	Questions do not adequately address language of the standards although being at different levels of questioning.
Yes No	5d) Questions often begin with comprehension of the text before focusing on interpretation or evaluation.	No	Questions are more evaluative rather than targeting comprehension. There are comprehension questions, but a majority of the questions are evaluative.
	5e) Questions support students in unpacking the academic language (vocabulary and syntax) prevalent in complex texts to determine meaning from text and in learning new vocabulary from every reading opportunity.	No	Questions only minimally assist students in supporting developing and building on academic language needed to determine meaning from text.
6. ASSESSMENT: Materials offer assessment opportunities that genuinely measure progress and elicit	REQUIRED 6a) Measurement of progress via assessments should include gradual release of supporting scaffolds for students to measure their independent abilities.	Yes	Measurement of student progress provides scaffolding for students to work independently on skills/objectives necessary to attain.
direct, observable evidence of the degree to which students can independently demonstrate the assessed grade-specific standards	REQUIRED 6b) Aligned rubrics or assessment guidelines (such as scoring guides or student work exemplars) are included and provide sufficient guidance for interpreting student performance.	Yes	Rubrics were not noted, however, there were opportunities for teachers to provide corrective feedback and monitor student progress through use of assessment handbook, baseline group test, and online assessment.
with grade-level text(s).  Yes No	REQUIRED 6c) Materials use varied modes of assessment, including a range of pre-, formative, summative and self-assessment measures.	Yes	Variety of assessments noted through use of online, weekly assessments, fresh reads, and writing to sources noted.

	6d) Materials assess student proficiency using methods that are unbiased and accessible to all students.	Yes	Materials accessible to all students.
	6e) When assessments indicate students do not understand what they hear or read, materials should provide suggestions for reteaching and additional student learning opportunities. These materials must be easily implemented.	Yes	Materials provide easily to implement remediation and intervention especially or those without a clear understanding of skill/objective.

IV. Scaffolding and Support
7. SCAFFOLDING AND SUPPORT: Materials provide all students, including those who read below grade level, with extensive opportunities and support to encounter and comprehend	REQUIRED 7a) Pre-reading activities and suggested approaches to teacher scaffolding are focused and engage students with understanding the text itself. Pre-reading activities should be no more than 10% of time devoted to any reading instruction.	Yes	Pre-reading activities are engaging and provide a focus for students to relate to text/stories read aloud.
grade-level complex text (either listened to or read) as required by the standards at each grade.  Yes  No	REQUIRED 7b) Read aloud materials must have the goal of students gaining full comprehension of complex text and do not confuse or substitute mastery of strategies for full comprehension of text; reading strategies support comprehension of specific texts and focus on building knowledge and insight. Texts must not serve as platforms to practice discrete strategies.	Yes	Read-aloud Materials allow students to comprehend text/stories and use strategies to enhance understanding of texts/stories.  Opportunity for favorite traditional read aloud, literacy based centers, and immersion in text, where teachers can facilitate student choice from existing leveled libraries based on interest, availability, and readability. The purpose of this time is to build independent, interested, and capable readers.
	REQUIRED 7c) Materials regularly direct teachers to return to focused parts of the text to guide students through rereading, discussion and writing about the ideas, events, and information found there.	No	Materials do not direct teachers to return to parts of the text in guiding students with reading, discussion, etc. The only redirection comes in the form of corrective feedback if the student is having trouble with decoding, fluency, etc.

7f) The materials are easy to use and cleanly laid out for students and teachers. The reading selections are centrally located within the materials and obviously the center of focus.	Materials appear to be user-friendly and are at the center of the focus.
7e) The content can be reasonably completed within a regular school year and the pacing of content allows for maximum student understanding. The materials provide guidance about the amount of time a task might reasonably take.	Content can be completed in a reasonable amount of time and paced to maximize student understanding.

V. Writing to Sources and Research
8. WRITING TO SOURCES: The majority of written tasks are text-dependent (based on what has been read or heard) and reflect the writing genres named in the standards.	REQUIRED 8a) Students engage in a full range of writing as outlined by the standards at each grade level and materials include multiple writing tasks. This includes writing about what they are hearing or reading, writing narratives (both real and imagined), writing to inform or explain, and writing opinions.	Yes	Multiple writing tasks noted as appropriate with this grade level.
Writing assignments are prominent and varied and ask students to draw on their experience, imagination, current capacities, and most frequently, the texts they encounter through reading	REQUIRED 8b) Writing opportunities for students are prominent and varied in length and time demands (e.g., notes, summaries, shortanswer responses, whole-class shared writing, on-demand and process writing, etc.).	Yes	Writing opportunities prominent and varied throughout the units noted.
or read-alouds as source material. As a means to such expression, materials provide sufficient opportunities for all students to practice newly acquired foundational skills as well as other forms of self-expression.	REQUIRED 8c) Materials build in opportunities for connections between writing, speaking and listening, reading, and the language standards. For example, students listen to a text being read, work collaboratively to develop a plan for writing, write independently filling out an answer frame, and then share their writing with a peer who reviews the writing against a word wall to ensure high frequency words are spelled correctly.	Yes	In each unit, there were opportunities for students to connect text/stories read aloud and writing and sharing opportunities.
Yes No	REQUIRED 8d) Submissions address grade-level foundation standards that require students in the early grades to know their letters, phonetic conventions, sentence structures, and spelling.	Yes	Materials require the students to have an understanding of foundational standards.
	8e) Materials provide opportunities for educators to monitor student progress in the development of these foundational skills and respond to the needs of individual students. This monitoring should include attention to invented spelling as appropriate for its diagnostic value.	Yes	Opportunities for educators to monitor student progress in developing foundational skills in writing noted.
	8f) Materials engage students in shared research projects to develop the skills needed to conduct research independently in later grades.	Yes	Opportunities for students to work collaboratively in shared projects noted.

VI. Speaking and Listening
9. SPEAKING AND LISTENING: Materials should promote frequent and regular discussions about texts students have heard or read. Oral tasks	REQUIRED 9a) Texts used in speaking and listening questions and tasks must meet the criteria for complexity, range, and quality of texts (Criteria 2, 3, and 4).	No	Texts allow for frequent and regular discussions of texts and stories, but do not meet the criteria for Quality and Range. Speaking and listening tasks progress across the grade level.
must be text-dependent and materials for speaking and listening must reflect true communication skills required for appropriate interactions and	REQUIRED 9b) As a regular part of comprehension instruction materials build in frequent opportunities for a range of conversations and collaborations with peers about texts listened to or read. conversations with a variety of audiences in and out of the classroom.  Yes  No	REQUIRED 9c) Materials build in frequent opportunities for connections and alignment between speaking and listening, reading, writing, and the language standards. For example, through directions and modeling, materials encourage students to use academic language and grade-appropriate oral language conventions.		Stories and Passages within the lessons have been designed to provide repeated listening experiences with selected vocabulary words.
	9d) Materials develop active listening skills, such as taking notes, asking relevant questions, and elaborating on remarks of others.		Opportunities for students to work collaboratively and share ideas with on another noted.
	9e) Materials include a variety of authentic speaking and listening activities for student practice.	Yes	Authentic Speaking & Listening activities for student practice noted.

through unpacking the vocabulary and syntax of text(s) (indicator 5e) as models of language use.	REQUIRED 10c) Materials create opportunities for students to discover accurate usage patterns, compare them with their own (oral and written), and develop proficiency in usage and language conventions that build from one grade to the next.	Yes	Materials allow opportunities for students to become more proficient through practice and usage.
	REQUIRED 10d) Materials encourage students to examine the language of texts (vocabulary, sentences, structure) and model their own writing after texts they are listening to or reading as a way to develop more complex sentence structure and language usage.	Yes	Materials encourage students to use language from texts to build on and develop complex sentence structure in their writing and everyday language usage.
	REQUIRED 10e) Materials build in frequent opportunities for connections and alignment between the language standards, writing, reading, and speaking and listening. For example, through directions and modeling, materials encourage students to use grade-appropriate language conventions when speaking and writing about texts.	Yes	Materials have built in and frequent opportunities for students to use developmentally appropriate conventions when speaking and writing about texts/stories.
	10b) Materials provide real-world activities for student practice with natural language (e.g. mock interviews, presentations).	Yes	Real-world activities provided and noted for students to practice and use natural and appropriate language.

As a means to such expression, materials provide sufficient opportunities for all students to practice newly acquired foundational skills as well as other forms of self-expression.	REQUIRED  8c) Materials build in opportunities for connections between writing, speaking and listening, reading, and the language standards. For example, students listen to a text being read, work collaboratively to develop a plan for writing, write independently filling out an answer frame, and then share their writing with a peer who reviews the writing against a word wall to ensure high frequency words are spelled correctly.	Yes	Opportunities for connections between writing, speaking and listening, reading and the language standards noted.
Yes No	REQUIRED  8d) Submissions address grade-level foundation standards that require students in the early grades to know their letters, phonetic conventions, sentence structures, and spelling.	Yes	Yes, materials address grade-level foundational standards
	8e) Materials provide opportunities for educators to monitor student progress in the development of these foundational skills and respond to the needs of individual students. This monitoring should include attention to invented spelling as appropriate for its diagnostic value.	Yes	Materials provide opportunities for educators to monitor student progress and respond to needs of individual students.
	8f) Materials engage students in shared research projects to develop the skills needed to conduct research independently in later grades.	Yes	Research projects noted, but independent and not shared.

Yes  No	REQUIRED  10a) Materials address the grammar and language conventions specified by the Language standards at each grade level.	Yes	Materials address the grammar and language conventions at grade levels.
	REQUIRED  10c) Materials create opportunities for students to discover accurate usage patterns, compare them with their own (oral and written), and develop proficiency in usage and language conventions that build from one grade to the next.	Yes	Materials create opportunities for students to discover accurate usage patterns and develop proficiency in usage and language conventions that build from one grade to the next noted.
	REQUIRED  10d) Materials encourage students to examine the language of texts (vocabulary, sentences, structure) and model their own writing after texts they are listening to or reading as a way to develop more complex sentence structure and language usage.	Yes	Materials encourage students to examine the language of texts
	REQUIRED  10e) Materials build in frequent opportunities for connections and alignment between the language standards, writing, reading, and speaking and listening. For example, through directions and modeling, materials encourage students to use grade-appropriate language conventions when speaking and writing about texts.	Yes	Frequent opportunities for connections and alignment btw language standards, writing, reading and speaking and listening noted.

I. Text Selection
Tier 1 and 2 Non-Negotiable  1. COMPLEXITY OF TEXTS:  Materials present a progression of complex texts as stated by Reading Standard 10 <sup>1</sup> .  Yes No	REQUIRED  1a) Materials provide texts that fall within grade-level complexity bands, indicating that quantitative measures and qualitative analysis <sup>2</sup> were used in selection of texts. Poetry and drama are analyzed only using qualitative measures.	Yes	Materials provide texts that fall within grade-level complexity bands, indicating that quantitative measures and qualitative analysis were used in selection of texts. Students read selections such as Penguin Chick 690L, Amazing Bird Nests 730L, and Rocks in His Head 720L. Materials include a Text Based Comprehension page which provides text complexity measures used to select texts.
	REQUIRED  1b) Texts for each grade align with the requirements outlined in the standards and with the complexity of exemplars provided in Appendix B.	Yes	Texts align with the requirements outlined in the standards and with the complexity of the exemplars.
	REQUIRED  1c) Texts increase in complexity as materials progress across grade bands. Read-aloud texts follow the same trend, although they may have greater variability because listening skills in elementary school generally outpace reading skills.	Yes	Texts increase in complexity across the grade bands as materials progress with read aloud texts following the same trend.
Tier 1 and 2 Non-Negotiable 2. Section	Criteria	Y/N	Final Justification/Comments
	1. Complexity of Texts (Non-Negotiable)	Yes	Texts increase in complexity across the grade bands as materials progress with read aloud texts following the same trend.
I: Text Selection	2. Quality of Texts (Non-Negotiable)	No	Texts are worth reading, varied and but do not systematically build knowledge. Newspaper articles, fables, tales, nonfiction, and fiction many texts from different disciplines noted.
	3. Range and Volume of Texts	No	Materials include only print texts.
II: Foundational Skills	4. Foundational Skills (Non-Negotiable*)	No	Text rich and varied, however students are not provided sufficient opportunities to develop fluency, especially silent reading opportunities.
III: Text-Dependent Questions and	5. Text-Dependent Questions (Non-Negotiable)	No	Language of the standards and the depth and complexity is weak.
Tasks	6. Assessment	Yes	Varied modes of assessment noted including pre-formative, summative and self-assessment measures.
IV: Scaffolding and Support	7. Scaffolding and Support	No	Materials do not regularly direct teachers to return to focused parts of texts to guide students through rereading, rich discussions and writing and events and information.
V: Writing to Sources and Research	8. Writing to Sources	Yes	Research both independent and shared noted. Students provided opportunities to collect, analyze, and evaluate information, which are critical 21st Century Skills.
VI: Speaking and Listening	9. Speaking and Listening	No	Materials are conducive to engaging students effectively in a range of conversations and collaborations, expressing well-supported ideas and building on others' ideas but texts do not meet the criteria for quality and range.
VII: Language	10. Language	Yes	Materials expect students to confront their own error patterns in usage and conventions and correct them; one specific place is in writers' workspace.

The goal for ELA students is that they can read and understand grade-level texts independently, as demonstrated through writing and speaking about those texts. A strong ELA classroom is structured with the below components.

To evaluate each set of submitted materials for alignment with the standards, begin by reviewing Column 2 for the non-negotiable criteria. If there is a "Yes" for all required indicators in Column 2, then the materials receive a "Yes" in Column 1. If there is a "No" for any required indicators in Column 2, then the materials receive a "No" in Column 1. (Note: If materials do not represent a full curricula, then some of Criteria 1-10 may not apply.)

Tier 1 ratings receive a "Yes" in Column 1 for Criteria 1-10.

Tier 2 ratings receive a "Yes" in Column 1 for all non-negotiable criteria (Foundational Skills (as applicable), Complexity of Texts, Quality of Texts, and Text-Dependent Questions), but at least one "No" in Column 1 for the remaining criteria.

I. Text Selection
Tier 1 and 2 Non-Negotiable 1. COMPLEXITY OF TEXTS:  Materials present a progression of complex texts as stated by Reading Standard 10 <sup>1</sup> .  Yes No	REQUIRED 1a) Materials provide texts that fall within grade-level complexity bands, indicating that quantitative measures and qualitative analysis <sup>2</sup> were used in selection of texts. Poetry and drama are analyzed only using qualitative measures.	Yes	Most texts do fall within the grade-level complexity band. Students read selections such as The Man Who Named the Clouds L920, On the Banks of Plum Creek L720, and Eye of the Storm L1060. Materials include a Text Based Comprehension page which provides text complexity measures used to select texts.
	REQUIRED  1b) Texts for each grade align with the requirements outlined in the standards and with the complexity of exemplars provided in Appendix B .	Yes	Texts align with the requirements outlined in the standards and the complexity of the exemplars provided in Appendix B.
	REQUIRED 1c) Texts increase in complexity as materials progress across grade bands. The goal for ELA students is that they can read and understand grade-level texts independently, as demonstrated through writing and speaking about those texts. A strong ELA classroom is structured with the below components.

To evaluate each set of submitted materials for alignment with the standards, begin by reviewing Column 2 for the non-negotiable criteria. If there is a "Yes" for all required indicators in Column 2, then the materials receive a "Yes" in Column 1. If there is a "No" for any required indicators in Column 2, then the materials receive a "No" in Column 1. (Note: If materials do not represent a full curricula, then some of Criteria 1-10 may not apply.)

Tier 1 ratings receive a "Yes" in Column 1 for Criteria 1-10.

Tier 2 ratings receive a "Yes" in Column 1 for all non-negotiable criteria (Foundational Skills (as applicable), Complexity of Texts, Quality of Texts, and Text-Dependent Questions), but at least one "No" in Column 1 for the remaining criteria.

I. Text Selection
Tier 1 and 2 Non-Negotiable 1. COMPLEXITY OF TEXTS:  Materials present a progression of complex texts as stated by Reading Standard 10 <sup>1</sup> .  Yes No	REQUIRED 1a) Materials provide texts that fall within grade-level complexity bands, indicating that quantitative measures and qualitative analysis <sup>2</sup> were used in selection of texts. Poetry and drama are analyzed only using qualitative measures.	Yes	Most texts do fall within the grade-level complexity band. Students read selections such as Old Yeller L940, Hatchet L940, and The View from Saturday L1020. Materials include a Text Based Comprehension page which provides text complexity measures used to select texts.
	REQUIRED  1b) Texts for each grade align with the requirements outlined in the standards and with the complexity of exemplars provided in Appendix B .	Yes	Texts align with the requirements outlined in the standards and the complexity of the exemplars provided in Appendix B.
	REQUIRED  1c) Texts increase in complexity as materials progress across grade bands. Read-aloud texts follow the same trend, although they may have greater variability because listening skills in elementary school generally outpace reading skills.	Yes	Complexity progresses through grade levels.
Tier 1 and 2 Non-Negotiable	REQUIRED		The text has a balance of literature and Grade band conversions for quantitative measures are determined using the chart on page 4 of the document. A description of the criteria for analyzing the qualitative features of the text is located on pages 4-6 of the document.

The quality of texts is high—they support multiple readings for various purposes and exhibit exceptional craft and thought and/or provide useful information.	REQUIRED 2c) Within a sequence or collection of texts, specific anchor texts of grade-level complexity are selected for multiple, careful readings. A first read where students "access the text" and a second read where students "close read" with questions.

No	There is no connection to other texts. Although some questions are text-dependent, they are not in a coherent sequence throughout the text.
Yes No	REQUIRED 5c) Questions include the language of the standards, and assess the depth and complexity required by the standards at each gradelevel over time to advance and deepen student learning. ( Note: not every standard must be assessed with every text.)	No	Questions and tasks to not require the depth and complexity required by the standards. For example, CCSS states that students analyze in detail how a key individual, event, or idea is introduced, illustrated, and elaborated in a text. The materials have students sequence events from the story with prompting and require no analysis of the events.
