To implement a guidebook unit, teachers need:

1. The units

2. The texts

3. The handouts

4. Additional materials, such as reading logs, sticky notes, and highlighters

Units	The units include three unit assessments and daily lessons with student-friendly slides, teaching notes, and example student responses. There are implementation guides available on the Get Started page for each unit.	• ELA Guidebooks 2.0 landing page • Overview Guide
Texts	All units require classrooms to all the texts used in the unit. No texts listed are optional. There are two ways to determine the needed texts: 　1. Text Access Page: Each unit has a Text Access page that identifies the needed texts and access links. Teachers should access this page to access texts for a single classroom. 　2. Text Purchase Worksheet: Each unit also has a Text Purchase Worksheet. Districts and principals should use these worksheets to make purchases for multiple classrooms.	• Unit Materials page • Text Purchase Worksheets landing page
Handouts	All units require students to have access to handouts. There are two ways to access the handouts: 　1. By lesson: Click on the Additional Materials tab. Teachers should use this option to download and make copies for a single classroom. 　2. By unit: Go to the Student Materials page. Districts and principals should use this option to download and make copies of all the handouts for multiple classrooms.	• Student Materials page
